The SBIR/STTR Phase 0 Pilot Program helps Florida companies increase their chances of submitting a successful Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) or Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) proposal for federal research and development funds.

For more information about Federal SBIR/STTR programs, please visit: www.sba.gov/sbir or www.zyn.com/sbir

The Phase 0 Pilot Program includes:

- Professional Assessment of your proposed concept, which will include recommendations to build a stronger proposal.

- Potential Award of up to $3,000 to implement recommendations for proposal improvement. Eligible expenses include, but are not limited to, market research, technology consulting services, grant writing assistance, and legal/accounting fees.

For more information about the Phase 0 Program, please visit: www.eflorida.com/phase0
PRE-QUALIFICATIONS

Prior to being evaluated for the Phase 0 Pilot Program, the following must first be completed:

1) Self evaluation on whether all federal SBIR/STTR eligibility criteria are met, which can be found at www.sba.gov/sbir

2) Identification of a specific SBIR/STTR solicitation topic in which your research/technology can be applied, which can be found at www.sbirworld.com and www.zyn.com/sbir

QUALIFICATION/APPLICATION PROCESS

Once you have completed the above:

1) Contact your local Phase 0 partner organization (see below), who will verify your eligibility for the Phase 0 Program and, upon verification, supply program documents.

2) Submit the following requirements to Enterprise Florida (see application for contact) for enrollment into the program:

- ✓ Your completed application
- ✓ Your $250 application fee
- ✓ A recommendation, which will be sent to EFI by the partner organization if you are eligible.

SBIR/STTR PHASE 0 PILOT PROGRAM PARTNER:

For more information about the Phase 0 Program, please visit: www.eflorida.com/phase0